Beechcraft Augsburg – its ideal location is attracting a growing number of customers

Beechcraft Sales and Service GmbH conveniently located at Augsburg Airport is constantly becoming more attractive. Indeed the location offers a number of advantages:

Augsburg is very close to Munich, only a 30 minute drive away, and access to the A8 motorway is right around the corner, plus a „no slots required“ airport with reasonable take-off and landing fees. Maintenance customers not only appreciate easy access and the resulting time saving. Augsburg Airport, as an airport of entry, perfectly suits international customers who travel to and from Augsburg. The presence of customs and immigration officials is a major advantage.

Also the friendly and competent maintenance staff can assist customers in all Hawker and Beechcraft related areas. The Beechcraft Augsburg Sales organisation is also playing in premier league. The recently expanded product portfolio now also includes additional brands. This gives customers the opportunity to choose from an even larger range of models of superior quality.

Over the years Beechcraft Sales and Service has managed to build up a strong network with many other aircraft dealers. Thanks to this cooperation with serious and well-established international partners Beechcraft Augsburg is capable to respond to most customer requests in realtime. Customers may profit from a common pool of aircraft coming from reliable sources.

The combination of a convenient location, a highly professional sales organisation and the largest maintenance center in Europe makes Beechcraft Augsburg now even more attractive.
